Many House Guests Invade Campus at Yesterday's Opening of Sixteenth Annual Winter Carnival Sponsored by New Hampshire Outing Club

The Sixteenth Annual Winter Carnival opened last night with over 400 house guests, and many visitors invading the campus. The usual "Outing club luck" failed for the first time in several years, and necessitated the cancelling of the ski events because of lack of snow.

This year the Outing club is stressing lighting effects. The entrance to the Gymnasium is decorated by an archway banked with pine bows, and overhung with northern lights which illuminate the entire scene. The center of the campus is made bright by an elaborate system of floodlights from the tower of Thompson hall.

A tea dance will be held in the Gymnasium tomorrow afternoon from three to five. This affair will fill in the breach created by the weather conditions which prevent the carrying out of the outdoor schedule.

A few of the houses have trucked in snow, and the following people will judge the snow sculpture this evening at six-thirty: Mrs. Lucinda Smith, Mr. Eric T. Huddleston and Mr. Arnold Perreton. The theme of the Carnival this year is Switzerland, and an attempt was to be made to convert the campus into a Saint Moritz of New Hampshire. The lack of snow this year, however, has prevented the successful carrying out of this plan.

Hockey Games Planned

This afternoon the varsity sextet is scheduled to meet Bowdoin at four o'clock if the ice is in condition, and tomorrow afternoon they play Colby. These games will be played at seven o'clock in the evening if the ice is too soft for play in the afternoon.

The winter house parties tomorrow night will conclude the Carnival program, with dancing from eight until twelve.

FOURTEEN NAMED IN SECOND HONOR GROUP FOR PHI KAPPA PHI

Honor Society Awards Two Scholarship Plaques This Year

At a meeting of the Phi Kappa Phi honorary society last Tuesday afternoon, fourteen honor students were voted into the society. There are eight from the College of Liberal Arts, and six from the College of Technology.

The names of those students elected are as follows: Liberal Arts: Ruth Prince, Rosamond D. Emerson, Alfred E. Gardner, Byron N. Carr, John M. Arnfield, Rachel Caron, Frances Libby, and George Nye. Technology: Dwayne Vier, Lewis E. Tufts, Frank N. Fernald, Stanley Waldo, Bernard D. Rosen, and Stanley Tomkinson.

Dr. George N. Bauer presented a new set of regulations concerning the awarding of scholarship plaques. This year two scholarship plaques will be awarded instead of one as in former years. One plaque will be awarded to a high school whose graduating class consists of sixty or over, and the other will be awarded to a high school with less than sixty annual graduates.

The initiation of those honor students will take place on March 11, and will be followed by a dinner party in the President's dining room. Dr. Payson Smith, former commissioner of education in Massachusetts, and now Professor at Howard School of Education will be the guest speaker.

Later the society will have a meeting at which time Dr. Fred Englehardt, president-elect of the university, will be the guest of honor.

FAMOUS PIANOFORTE ARTIST PRESENTS A SELECTED PROGRAM

Mr. Bauer Reproduced Harpsicord Effects on the Piano

Mr. Harold Bauer presented a piano recital last Wednesday night under the auspices of the Lectures and Concerts Committee.

Mr. Bauer explained at the opening of the concert his purpose in part one by his selection and arrangement of Handel. He attempted to reproduce effects on the piano similar to those of the harpsichord. He took the compositions from sixteen suites written for the harpsichord. He also described the legend of the Air with Variations, commonly known as the Harmonious Blacksmith. Handel was supposed to have received the inspiration of this air from a certain blacksmith who was hammering horseshoes but later research proved that this blacksmith took the air from Handel.

Secondly, Mr. Bauer played the well known Moonlight Sonata, which was received by an enthusiastic audience.

After intermission, Mr. Bauer explained Debussy's Sunken Cathedral, a composition which revealed an explanation in itself. The legend is that of a cathedral built on quicksand in the south of France, which sank out of sight but it is still said that the bells and organ of this church can be heard at certain times.

Mr. Bauer concluded the program by playing two encores, the Butterfly Etude by Chopin and a Choral arranged by Bach, Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring.

The program was as follows:

1. Handel Set of pieces (Selected and arranged by Harold Bauer)
Overture
Allemande
Sarabande
Courante
Piece
Air with variations
2. Beethoven Sonata Op. 27 No. 2
3. a) Debussy—The Sunken Cathedral
b) Brahms—Capriccio in B minor
c) Schumann—Novelette in D major
4. a) Schubert—Impromptu in G flat
b) Chopin—Scherzo in C sharp minor

The speakers were Paul O'Neil, Louis Wyman, and Maurice Palizza.

The queen will be chosen by a group of selected judges during the grand march, coming just before the intermission. The judges are Major Donovan Swanton, Brad McIntire and George R. Thomas. Carrying the crowns for the royalty will be a Durham young boy and girl.

CONGRATULATIONS

Last evening marked the opening of the 16th annual winter carnival sponsored by the University of New Hampshire Outing Club. To us, the majority of the student body, this means only the major social event of the year—skating, dancing, sports, a weekend of gaiety and holiday.

But behind this scene lies another story, a story of work, honest hard work, to make this carnival season a success.

Carnival was not planned on the spur of the moment, by no means. Weeks ago, Blue Circle chose its committees to work out a successful program, one which would have no loopholes that would make the guests feel a letdown at any time. No effort was wasted. As the weeks progressed, ski meets, ice activities were arranged, shows and dances were scheduled.

As the prospect of a snowless time loomed up, plans were quickly but thoroughly made to meet this. Snow importation seemed out of the question for the clubs own sculpture, so nature's trees and man's lights opened up a solution for decorations.

With warm weather threatening to call off the ice frolic, the outdoor committee laid plans for an indoor frolic in the gymnasium, basketball games between men and women.

Hard work of contacting the best orchestras, hours of tedious labor in decorating the ballroom, precious time in arranging a midnight show, and time, energy and planning, done by the Blue Circle in arranging this weekend of carnival activity for the university.

It wasn't for monetary income that all this has been done, for these workers are receiving no personal refund for their work from this angle. The members worked to give us, the university and its guests, a successful and joyful winter carnival.

Congratulations to the Outing Club, the Blue Circle, and all the men and women taking part in preparing for this 16th annual carnival.

Welcome

On behalf of the University of New Hampshire, we wish to extend our heartiest greeting and welcome to our guests this weekend. Welcome!

TO THE EDITOR

The steadily rising undercurrent of feeling in favor of a tennis team on this campus has finally come to the front with the construction of new courts and the offering of the services of a fine coach. A student group of interested players has been formed and campus sentiment tapped. The reaction has been very favorable with 153 men wishing to go out for the sport if, and when it was organized. Upon request of this group the Faculty Athletic committee very gladly consented to a hearing. As the representative of the student tennis group it was my pleasure to discuss the situation with them and bring from them for the undergraduates, information and facts as they stand at present.

When work was begun on our new athletic fields, it was planned to have twenty new tennis courts, six of which were to be made of clay for the use of a varsity tennis team. The Athletic Committee recognized fully the magnitude of the interest both in the faculty and in the undergraduates in this activity, and intends that this sport will be continued in the near future. The sport has not been dropped from the University, but merely discontinued until a time when better equipment will warrant its return to an active status. Provisions for a varsity letter in this sport are still retained in the Official Information for Students.

Due to a lack of W.P.A. workers the six new clay courts have not been finished. These workers must be imported from neighboring towns but have the privilege of transferring to any project which may start up in their respective towns. Moreover, the W.P.A. regulations limit the number of hours any one man can work per month. Furthermore, according to the engineers in charge of this project it is unwise to mix and lay the surface of these courts during the winter months. As a result, it is impossible to predict when these courts will be ready for use.

In spite of this, however, the prospects of having a tennis team here at the University seem to be brighter than ever before, for, as soon as the courts are completed the enthusiasm for this sport shown by the students, faculty, and authorities should surmount any other obstacles.

THE LISTENING POST

by Donald Mendelson

The House has passed its own bill by a huge vote which enables Supreme Court Justices to retire voluntarily upon reaching the age of seventy and receive a pension of full pay. It is hoped that by this measure several of the conservative Justices will retire paving the way for the appointment of more liberally minded judges. Newly appointed judges would naturally be sympathetic toward New Deal legislation. However, even this might not overcome the President's insistence upon enlargement of the Supreme Court.

Both parties favor several phases of the President's judicial reorganization plan very vigorously. That part which would allow the intervention of the department of justice in a case where a constitutional question is involved between two private citizens, has received support from all sides. Likewise, Congress seems inclined to favor the proposition for an immediate appeal to the Supreme Court when a lower court holds a law unconstitutional. The agreement on the plan up to this stage is devoid of real serious argument from the opposition. The present administration would now like to add a Justice to the Supreme Court for every Justice over seventy who does not retire. This would have the effect of increasing the personnel to 15 Justices. It is claimed that these additions are necessary to increase the efficiency of the Court. Along with the increased efficiency would come decisions favorable to the New Deal. The opposition contends that the efficiency of the Court is good and that the added justices are simply an attempt to pack the Court with men favorable to the New Deal.

It seems that if the efficiency of the Court is poor then additions are needed regardless of whether the appointees be liberals or conservatives. However, if the Court is to be packed simply to favor the New Deal legislation, a dangerous example will be set. It would amount to practically nullification of the Constitution and all that it stands for.

At our last appearance—our first—we had the audacity—caused by the sleepiness that comes from trying to get ideas at a late hour—to think that it sounded rather witty to name ourselves the intellectuals. Now we turn the other cheek, and attempt our version of how another homemade intellectual, Walt Whitman might speak of our so appropriate—unless we have a drastic change of weather—Winter Carnival.

I.

I come to you embodied in the spirit of Carnival,
Long and long have I waited the coming of this affair,
From trillions of year I come, with primitive spirit of fun and of dance,
I come but from last year's class and last and last,
And I welcome you who come.
Prevail and endure above the muck and brown slime, mud
The dry, dead grass that greets the eye in yesterday's pasture,
The skinny, naked trees that find here no white mantle.
No snow! Little ice! and still I welcome you and come to join you.
I meet the train at the station and the bus at the Drug,
I greet you fine, old lads (some already growing bald) of yesterday,
I greet you, Miss, from Wellesley's yards,
I greet you, too, from Haverhill town and You I greet from Boston both and New York,
From far and near but yet more near
I love you all and greet you, Camerado!

II

Brothers—with side kicks—join me now at the ball.
I arrive both with you and you, and with whom you come,
I find the laughing cheery, smiling faces good to look at,
Some more than others show preparations better planned—and executed,
Some flushed, some powdered; other with the sharp,
Strong night, pink cheeked—and others with a glow,
Here floats by with angel tread a body hid in dark, rich velvet,
In the corner stands a suit of tails, newly and quickly fitted
Within which some fresh Don Juan stands firm in tight, new shoes;
Above the chatter of close-linked groups I hear
The music makers try their instruments,
With adept fingers flashes over the keys the pianist
The trumpet players covers brilliant, strong teeth with Great, full lips a note high over the laughing throngs,

LENTEN SERVICES IN BALLARD THIS WEEK

At a meeting of the Christian Work cabinet last Monday night the work for the second semester was planned. Programs were discussed and committees chosen. It was decided to hold Lenten services in Ballard hall every week day at 7:50 to 8:00 A. M. The retreat that is being built in Ballard hall will probably be finished before the Lenten season is over. For the present, however, the services will be held in the Ballard hall assembly room.

It is also intended that sometime in the near future inter-denominational services will be held in which all sects will participate.

All, all find this and the same to pass away the time;

Fail me not, O Muse, there's still more space to fill.

And still I greet whose way has been the road that never ends,
I journeyed it with you, and slept in box-cars, too,
And now I welcome you, brethren of the open road.
Now at last all have arrived and are here,

All, you and I, with desperate concentrating to keep it still,
Keep it still rolling—early Saturday morning.

Ball Not Affected By Scarlet Fever

There is no truth whatsoever in the current rumor circulating about the campus that the Carnival ball will be called off due to an epidemic of scarlet fever. Such was the report issued by Dr. William M. Prince, university physician, in the middle of the week.

The doctor's report stated that there are but three cases of the fever in the Hood house.

ORCHESTRA PRESENTS PROF. MANTON'S WORK

The State (WPA) Symphony, under the direction of Alexander Meide, will present Professor Robert Manton's "New England Rhapsody" at the Copley theatre in Boston, February 14. Professor Manton wrote the orchestral composition last spring here in Durham. His inspiration was Amy Lowell's poem "Lilacs".

"Lilacs in dooryards

Holding quiet conversation with the early moon:

Lilacs watching a deserted house

Settling sideways into the grass of an old road:

Lilacs wind-beaten staggering under lop-sided shock of bloom

Above a cellar dug into a hill

You are everywhere."

This will be the first time that the composition has been played anywhere. The program will also include Beethoven's Second Symphony and the Concerto for violoncello and orchestra by Edward Lalo.

WILDCAT PUCKSTERS
SWAMPED AS HUSKY
TEAM GETS REVENGE

Team Handicapped by Loss of Former Regular Players

Handicapped by unavoidable obstacles, the New Hampshire hockey team went down to defeat before a vastly improved Northeastern team last Tuesday night, 9-2. Playing on the ice of the Boston Arena, noted for the consistently poor condition of the ice, the team was lost throughout the game. There was a school-boy game played at the same time and the New Hampshire team did not start their game until after 10 o'clock. With the ice getting worse by the minute, the game itself was played under very trying circumstances.

Determined to wipe out the humiliating defeat of the week before, Northeastern went right to work the first period to try and avenge the defeat. Before five minutes were up, Byrne, Ganong, and Metherrall had combined to score three goals, bewildering the helpless Wildcats.

Ziggy Rogers and Jim McMahon combined to score New Hampshire's first goal, but shortly afterwards Byrne passed to Trowt for the Huskies' fourth goal.

In the second period, New Hampshire got going and held the Beantowners to one goal resulting from a pretty pass from Trowt to Byrne.

However, in the third period, with the ice mostly water the New Hampshire team, accustomed to fast natural ice, broke wide open and allowed the Northeastern team to score four goals. The Wildcats were doing their utmost and

VARSITY QUINTET HITS STRIDE

Still rather tired from the arduous schedule of the past two weeks the Varsity hockey team meets the sextet from Bowdoin this afternoon on home ice. Tomorrow they engage the host from Colby. Although worn out from constant playing and handicapped by the loss of their first string goalie, the Wildcats have won a fair share of the games played in Durham.

could not check back to cover the attacking boys in red and black. Northeastern scored two goals while Rab Fournier was off the ice for holding. New Hampshire pressed the entire third period but only when Quinn grabbed a pass from Fournier were the boys able to accomplish anything worthwhile.

This is the first single game ever played by a New Hampshire team on two days. It was Tuesday night when the game started, and it was Wednesday morning when the game ended.

New Hampshire had not fully recovered from the strenuous week before, because the team showed fatigue throughout the whole affair. The outstanding men from Northeastern were Bialick, Byrne, and Ganong, while Krystan's work in the nets was 100 per cent better than he showed here last week. For New Hampshire, Herbie Merrill and Bull Martin were outstanding. Bob Cullis, in the goal, did a much better job than the score would indicate.

The lineup:

New Hampshire—G., Cullis; R.D., R. Martin (Fournier); L.D., W. Martin (Patten, Otis); R.W., Manchester (Patten, Couser); C., Facey (Rogers, Fournier); L.W., Merrill (McMahon, Quinn, Dickey).

Northeastern—G., Krystan; L.D., Fraser (Sessler); R.D., Trowt (Sessler); R.W., Byrne (Metherall); C., Ganong (Decker); L.W., Bialick (Geary).

Score: First period—Byrne (Ganong, Bialeck) 1:10; Ganong (Byrne) 2:23; Metherall, 4:15; McMahon (Rogers) 12:30; Trowt (Byrne) 13:35.

Second period—Byrne (Trowt) 4:36.

Third period—Geary (Sessler) 1:25; Quinn (Fournier) 11:32; Bialeck, 12:22; Bialick, 13:26; Byrne (Bialick) 14:00.

Penalties—Trowt (tripping) (2); Sessler (illegal check); Fraser (hooking); W. Martin (no stick); Rogers (tripping); Fournier (holding); Sessler (handling puck).

KITTENS BOW TO PUPS
IN CLOSE CONTEST

The New Hampshire freshmen hoopsters, starting out at a whirlwind pace and rolling up a score of 8-1, were overcome by the score of 31-28 in a fast, close second half by the smoother-playing, undefeated Northeastern University Pups.

Leocha at Guard

Northeastern's Jim Hatch gained the first point of the game on a foul shot. Putting on a sudden burst of speed, the freshmen sank four successive baskets before Northeastern called time out at seven minutes with the score 8-1. Led by Hatch and aided by seven successful foul shots, the Pups put on a consistent drive which brought them into the lead at the end of the half, 16-15. Guernsey then fouled Morrison, who sunk the foul shot to bring the score to 16 all.

Hatch Makes Four Goals

Northeastern, with Hatch making four baskets and Guernsey two, dominated the second half. As a result of some beautiful shooting by Dunn and Eagan, the Kittens were once trailing by 26-27.

Eli Power, out with a badly cut wrist, played part of the third period.

Coach Swasey's Winning Combination Found at Last

Snapping out of their prolonged losing streak to give the highly-favored Northeastern team a sound trouncing of 44-34 on Tuesday night, the revamped New Hampshire varsity basketball squad surprisingly redeemed itself for each of its seven successive defeats.

After holding its own in a see-saw struggle during the first ten minutes, Swasey's long-awaited successful combination forged ahead 23-16 as a result of four quick baskets by Rogean, Witter, Bishop and Hanson and did not relinquish this lead for the rest of the game.

Huskies are Amazed

The remarkable passing, shooting, and defense work which the hustling Wildcats started and maintained had the cocky and confident Huskies amazed throughout the contest.

Perhaps the most pleasing aspects of the game to Coach Swasey were Rogean's return to shooting accuracy and the fine play of Charlie Cotton, second string forward who started at guard.

Bialkowski of the Huskies started the scoring for Northeastern at 30 seconds by sinking a loper from the side line. Rogean started his 18 point high scoring of the evening by swishing one in from the black line. The score then see-sawed until Northeastern was leading 12-8. Baskets by Rogean and Bishop and a Northeastern foul shot brought the count to 12-13. New Hampshire then called time out, after which Rogean sunk a foul tying the score. The Wildcats dominated the play for the remainder of the half, and were leading 23-18 when the whistle blew.

Keep Up the Pace

In the second half, the Wildcats, led by Captain Arnie Rogean, Charlie Cotton, and Skip Witter, kept up the pace. Rice and Mehan did some clever work for the Huskies but could not stem the attack. Final score, 44-34.

Rice of Northeastern, and Boy and Bishop of New Hampshire fouled out of the game in the second half.

Skip Witter, who was hurt when he fell against Bialkowski, is reported as not seriously injured.

RELAY TEAM MEETS
STRONG OPPONENTS

New Hampshire's crack relay team of Percy Whitcomb, Jack Guinsburne, Captain Jack Downs, and Huck Quinn travel to Boston Saturday night to keep clean their undefeated record of two victories. This combination, which will run in the order named, will compete with the relay squads of Amherst college and Brown university. Amherst is reported to have a team which has bettered New Hampshire's time in the New York Millrose A. A. meet.

The freshmen are running their men in the order of Burt Mitchell, Tom Chretien, Phil Johnson, and anchor man Frank Wright. Bill Hickey will be the alternate. The opponents will be determined by a drawing from the schools competing.

Ed Chertok, the only individual entry, is competing against a strong field in the 1,000 yard run.

No two-mile relay is being entered.

Well, the basketball team finally came through. The good work and hard work of Coach Swasey as well as the cheerful attitude and refusal to be downhearted on the part of the players finally won out. It seemed good to see Captain Arnie Rogean shooting in those baskets as he did for the past three years. Good luck at Maine, fellows, and bring back the bear's hide.

The hockey team lost another tough one at Boston. Indoor ice is always a handicap for a New Hampshire team but the ice last Tuesday was worse than ever before. Half the rink was water and the other half was covered by an inch of snow. The Arena has been criticized much this year for the very poor ice. It's a wonder they wouldn't do something about it.

Charlie Joslin met the hockey team at Boston and had dinner with them. Charlie is now employed by the Merrimack Chemical company and looks in good shape. How he'd help the basketball team this year!!!

One of the Northeastern players was heard to remark after the game at Boston, "Gee, that didn't seem like the team we played last week. I wonder what happened to them. Why, they didn't have half the fight that they had when they beat us." Admittedly they didn't, but that B. C. game took plenty out of the team.

Right now it doesn't look as though the Winter Sports Meet would be held here or anywhere. Too bad, because it promised to be a corker with teams from all of the best colleges in the East participating. Moreover, it was one of the best features of the athletic phase of the Carnival.

Professor Ritzman Experiments

by Beatrice V. Fishman

For the last twenty-two years, Professor Ernest G. Ritzman of the University of New Hampshire has been modestly conducting amazing experiments in the science of animal husbandry. Foreign visitors from Germany, Japan, China, Russia, France—and in fact, from all over the world—come to see the results of his researches.

For eighteen years, the University of New Hampshire's experimental laboratory in animal husbandry headed by Prof. Ritzman has been cooperating with the Carnegie Institute in its metabolism research work. At a meeting of the board of directors of the Carnegie Institute of Washington, D. C., a few weeks ago, Prof. Ritzman was honored by being requested to present one of the six public lectures that were given during the week's exhibition. In addition to having one of the eleven exhibits on display there. Many of his assorted discoveries are now on display in the Museum of Science and Industry in the R.C.A. building in New York.

Research Professor R. G. Ritzman, a grey-haired, Swiss man of average height, experiments at a small, two-story building on this campus which is called "The Ritz." His life work started on this campus when Alexander Graham Bell (the brilliant inventor who bequeathed the University a flock of sheep) tired of experimenting with cross-breeding of animals. Professor Ritzman was then summoned here from the University of Porto Rico, where he was teaching, to carry on the work of Bell. For the next three years, he devoted most of his time to problems of animal-breeding. With the coming of the War, his interest turned to the effects of starvation diets on cattle. When his work was recognized to be of a distinctly high order, the University cleared out an old creamery building and the Carnegie Institute contributed funds to aid him in his experimentation.

Space allows the printing here of only a few of the numerous facts uncovered by the professor about animal metabolism. Cows, it was found, had a higher metabolic rate in the spring than in the winter. By breeding a higher basal metabolism bull to a high B. M. cow, the resulting would be a great milk producer. He broke down the accepted theory that all warm-blooded animals produce heat energy at a constant rate. He discovered that the usual winter diet for cows was woefully insufficient. By adding eight cents worth of extra nutritive factors, twenty-five cents worth of extra milk could be produced. Timothy hay, if cut in early June instead of in late July—as is the custom—will produce forty-eight more pounds of protein per acre.

His charts on animal husbandry are considered some of the greatest achievements made recently by American scientists.

During 25 years, first on the lecture platform and then on the air, I have never missed a single engagement because of my throat. I am a steady smoker, and because my throat and voice are vital to my career I insist upon a light smoke. In Luckies I find a light smoke plus the enjoyment of fine tobacco . . . and that's why Lucky Strikes have been my choice for 14 years."

THE FINEST TOBACCOS—
"THE CREAM OF THE CROP"

An independent survey was made recently among professional men and women—lawyers, doctors, lecturers, scientists, etc. Of those who said they smoke cigarettes, more than 87% stated they personally prefer a light smoke.

"The Voice of Experience" verifies the wisdom of this preference, and so do other leading artists of the radio, stage, screen and opera. Their voices are their fortunes. That's why so many of them smoke Luckies. You, too, can have the throat protection of Luckies—a light smoke, free of certain harsh irritants removed by the exclusive process "It's Toasted". Luckies are gentle on the throat.
